

GENERAL CHAMPIONSHIP

2021

Rulebook

General Championship Rules

This year General Championship, hereby GC, shall be organized online in all three genres of:

1. Sports and Games
2. Social and Cultural
3. Science and Technology

The gymkhana councils shall be responsible to organize events of respective genres.

Events might have different rules to decide the winners, however, following rules shall be applicable in general.

- Any registered student of the institute is eligible to participate and represent their team.
- There will be no limit on the number of events a person can participate in, but the person will be responsible to manage time conflicts on his/her own.
- Each council shall have a separate awarding system and leadership table. These tables shall be combined after all events using the normalization rules to decide on the winner for GC.
- Each genre will have an equal weightage of 100 points in the final table.
- There shall also be 100 points in the final table for participation.
- The team having maximum points in the final table will be declared as the winner.
- Participation points shall be compared to resolve a draw in the final table. If this also leads to a draw, the number of events won by the teams shall be compared. If the draw still stays, then the teams shall be declared as joint winners.
- In case of a conflict or disagreement, an appeal can be made to the council (Vice president and General Secretaries) and their decision shall be final.

Normalization:

Councils will have a different number of events and are free to award points to a scale of their choice. But, to ensure equal weightage of all councils their tables shall be normalized before combining.

To normalize a particular genre table, the table topper shall be given 100 points and others shall be given points as a percentage of table topper's score rounded off to the next whole number.

Clarification: Assume team A, B and C scored 1900, 1500 and 1700 points respectively in a genre. Then, in the final table, A shall be awarded 100 points from this genre.

B gets  $(1500/1900)*100$ , i.e., 79 points and C gets  $(1700/1900)*100$ , i.e., 90 points.

Total participation shall be combined for all events irrespective of the genre and then normalized according to the above-mentioned rules before combining with the final table.

READY

CHESS

Date: 20th March

Platform: Lichess

Time Format: 3min+0sec

Tournament Format:

- 1) The 8 teams participating are divided into two groups, A and B. Each group consists of 4 teams, say A1, A2, A3, A4 of group A and B1, B2, B3, B4 of group B.
- 2) The tournament consists of three rounds. Each round is of 1 hour duration. The time format is 3min+0sec for all the rounds.
- 3) First Round: One team battle will be conducted for each group. The top two teams of each group qualify for Semi-Final Round.
- 4) Semi-Final Round: The first position of group A will battle with the second position of group B. Similarly, the second position of group A will battle with the first position of group B. The winners of the respective team battles qualify for the Final Round.
- 5) Final Round: The team that wins the Final Round battle will be declared as the Winner and the other team will be declared as the Runner Up.

Scoring Pattern:

- 1) Same as lichess scoring pattern, individual scores get added to form the team score.
- 2) No limit on the number of participants from each team.
- 3) The scores of the top 20 registered players of each team will be added to form the team score.

General Rules:

- 1) Any form of cheating, use of reference software or otherwise during the competition is prohibited.
- 2) In case any allegations are made against any player, the organizers will first manually analyse the games and send the concerned games to lichess moderators. If the lichess moderators find cheating in these games, the player's score will be subtracted from the team's score and an additional penalty of 50 points will be made on the team for that round. In case the lichess moderators do not respond within a day, if the allegations are strong, the organizing team reserves the right to disregard the score of the concerned player from the team score, but in this case no further penalty is imposed on the player's team.
- 3) In case you feel someone is cheating, please inform your respective team representative who will personally inform the organizing team. More importantly, do not put allegations in the chat box. If any such instances are found, the organising team reserves the right to penalize you and the team you belong to even if the player you have accused is an actual cheater.
